ELEGANCE AND STYLE IN NEW NAMBOUR ESTATE

Welcome to this new estate where quality builds and a tight knit community are high priority to the residents. This home is beautifully appointed and sits atop the rise in a cul-de-sac with leafy forest views.

The electric security gates make way for the entry to this home and you are immediately drawn through the expansive foyer into the kitchen and living zone. The current owner was extremely particular when building this home and attention to detail is evident. The kitchen has so many great features but first in line has to be the amazing butler's pantry. Clearly designed with a view to housing all of the necessary appliances so as to keep benches clear and provide loads of storage. There are extra touches here which can only be seen in person.

Stone benches and European appliances are the standard and whilst there is separation of living and dining areas it all seems to flow and lead naturally to the undercover outdoor entertaining area. The size of the alfresco living/dining patio has to be mentioned, one ca
